PLAYING POLITICS.

The spectacle is just now presented of the law-makers of Texas playing politics with the penitentiary reform bill. The merits of the bill and the urgent need of such a law seems to make no difference with a certain class of the legislators, but the entire issue is discussed from the political side, namely as to whether Campbell or Colquitt shall be permitted to name the prison commission. This is a sorry condition, that the prisons shall continue to suffer the abuses of the past simply because some men in the legislature are not disposed to let the present executive carry this law into effect. And these same legislators were elected to work for the best interests of the state, and are under oath to do their full duty to the whole people. The people of Texas should keep their eyes on this little performance and make a note of the men who are blocking this needed legislation. We seem to have elected some politicians instead of statesmen to our legislative body.

Wireless messages are now being sent from airships. We are getting along, brethren. We may next expect talkless conversation.

More and more every day people are coming to know that the protective tariff is the backbone of the special interests. Abolish the high tariff rates and the big concerns would have to take their chances with the rest of the people.

Just a week now to think over the bond election matter. Use fair judgment and say if you do not think the town is entitled to parks while desirable locations may be had at reasonable prices. Such an opportunity will not pass this way again.

The Boys' Corn Club of Anderson county is now bringing in its samples to the Board of Trade rooms, and you will be surprised at the fine exhibit being made. The boys have shown some great results in corn growing under government supervision. Go down and inspect the exhibit.

Tyler held a big trades day Saturday, and it is estimated that some five thousand people were there from the surrounding country for the occasion. It was a great event, and will be repeated at regular intervals. All kinds of products were shown, and trading was a big feature.

The railroad claims bill passed both houses of the Texas legislature by an almost unanimous vote, showing that the arguments submitted must have convinced the law-makers of the state of the need of such a law. The attorney general's office has passed on the bill and says it is constitutional. Those best informed say the state has needed such a law for a long time.

Mr. P. F. Myers, chairman of the Board of Trade park committee, has received an illustrated booklet of Hubbard City, and among other things is shown the pretty city park, a park created right out of the prairie country. The land was bought, the trees planted and the park beautified by the people of that little city. They had a big job, since nature had not assisted in any material way further than spreading the ground down. Here in Palestine, with possibly four times the population and pretty park sites already adorned, some of the people are objecting to the creating of parks because they say we do not need such places.

This week will be devoted largely to getting ready for the big events of next week. Monday, a week from today, is Labor Day, when the labor hosts will entertain the people of this section of Texas. And on Tuesday the bond election will be held, to determine if Palestine is to purchase two beautiful parks as pleasure grounds for the present and coming generations. And on the same day the prohibition democrats will hold a mass meeting in this city to select a candidate to make the race for state senator from this district. And another matter that should command our attention should be that of an extended trade territory. Palestine should sell goods to three or four counties that neighbor next to us. A good advertising campaign is in order just now.

Playing In Vaudeville.

Guy Sherman and Will Thresto, two Palestine boys, left for Crockett this morning to appear there this week in vaudeville. These boys have a good reputation here as fun-makers, and will no doubt make good in our sister town.

MASS MEETING PROGRAM FOR NEXT MONDAY NIGHT

The Board of Trade committee held another meeting Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock to perfect plans for the meeting next Monday night to discuss the bond election on Tuesday. Chairman Hearne heard the reports of the sub-committees, and the following program was finally announced: The rally will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock, on Oak street, in front of the Gas office, and an invitation is extended to every man, woman and child in the city to be present to help boost for the parks. A band will be present to furnish music for the occasion. The speakers will be: Mr. John R. Hearne, master of ceremonies, who will make a short address and then introduce President R. A. Garner. Mayor A. L. Bowers, Hon. T. B. Greenwood, Judge Jno. M. Kling and City Attorney W. C. Campbell, and possibly others. These are all progressive citizens and will tell why they think the bonds should be voted for parks at this time. If you are interested in the question in any way come out and hear the discussions.

ARE BACK FROM AUSTIN FOR LABOR DAY QUEEN

Palestine Attorneys Representing I. & G. N. Creditors Are Satisfied With Work of Legislature.

Attorneys T. B. and A. G. Greenwood and W. C. Campbell and R. C. Sewell came home from Austin Sunday morning. These gentlemen spent all of last week in Austin urging the passage of the railroads claim bill, and are satisfied with the work of the legislature. The Palestine gentlemen made arguments for the bill before the legislative committees and presented the arguments for the bill. They were opposed by a good number of railroad attorneys, and are gratified at the results. The bill passed both branches of the legislature by an almost unanimous vote, affording protection to the unprotected creditors of railroads.

It is generally believed that the sale of the International & Great Northern road will be postponed as a result of the passage of this new law.

SONG SERVICE

At Presbyterian Church Sunday Evening Was Well Attended.

That the people of Palestine are lovers of music was shown from the large crowd that gathered at the Presbyterian church last night to enjoy the song service. Every seat in the main auditorium and Sunday school room was taken, and the service was thoroughly enjoyed. The program as published in Saturday's Herald was carried out.

But the Next Day It Snowed.

The Herald has a letter from Mr. A. S. Blount, who, with his family, is spending a vacation season in the El Paso country. He says they are having a good time, enjoying mountain scenery, mountain climbing, etc., and that they had planned a trip to Cloudcroft for Sunday, but that it snowed up in the hills, and caused them to postpone the trip. After a fill of the mountain country he says he knows the green trees, running brooks and the old red hills of Palestine will look good to them.
